WEATHER PROBS.
Showers and thunder storms have occurred very generally from the St. Appelle Valley to the Rockies but no very heavy rain falls have been reported. The weather has remained extremely warm everywhere excepting Alberta and Saskatchewan, where it has been rather cool. The outlook at present is unsettled with showers and thunder storms and cooler conditions.

EDMONTON MARKETS.
This past week has not been as busy for Edmonton merchants as preceding weeks. Haying is keeping many farmers from town. Thursday the threatening rain no doubt, was responsible for the comparatively quiet day. The following are the market quotations as given this morning:

Butter. Fifteen cents a pound is paid for first-class butter. For poorer grades the price drops to twelve cents a pound.

Eggs. Eggs are scarce at twenty cents a dozen. The large number of new settlers arriving in the Edmonton district buy large quantities of eggs and the demand always remains good.

Potatoes. New potatoes are now on the market and bring from $1.25 to $1.50 a bushel. The demand is fairly strong as there are scarcely any old potatoes on the market.

Beef. The supply of cattle remains good and the demand is strong at 3 1/2 cents a pound, live weight.

Hogs. There is a very strong demand for hogs at 5 3/4 cents a pound.

Poultry. There is a good demand for poultry at twelve cents a pound, dressed.

Ons. The demand for ons is rather weak and a fair amount is coming in. From 25 to 20 cents a bushel, is being paid.

Wheat. Wheat deliveries are light. Fifty-eight cents a bushel is the top price paid.

Hay. New hay has been coming in pretty freely, the price ranging from five to eight dollars a ton. Old hay brings from nine to twelve dollars a ton.

LOCAL.

—The water in the river is very low. There has been no high water this year.

—Preparatory services will be held in the Edmonton Presbyterian church this evening.

—The framework of D. R. Fraser & Company's new mill, near the site of their present one, has been erected.

—A very large drive of logs will be brought down the river for D. R. Fraser and Company, early in August.

—A boy's coat was found on the exhibition grounds a couple of days ago, and has been left at this office for the owner to claim.

—Williamson Bros. shipped a car of one hundred and seventy-four hogs, to Calgary on Wednesday.

—Wm. Best, Principal of the Calgary Business College, will arrive in Edmonton the latter end of August to establish a business college here.

—Edmonton will have another newspaper, L. St. Pierre, of Montreal, is at present in the city making final arrangements for the establishing of a French newspaper at Edmonton.

—A movement is on foot to have the number of coaching ways for town and village schools increased from two hundred and ten to two hundred days a year. This will increase the mid-summer holidays.

—D. J. McNamara of the Edmonton registry office, has received word from the secretary of the Territorial Law Society, Norman McKenzie, Regina, intimating that he has been successful in passing his final examination in law. He is now qualified to practice any place in the Northwest Territories.

—Provided it does not rain, an exciting baseball match will be played this evening between the Edmonton players and McDougall and Secord's general store, on the old race track. Everybody should turn out and see the game as it promises to be a very interesting one.

—The weather of the past two days has been very disagreeable. Yesterday a heavy mist prevailed and today a light drizzly rain is falling. Although the rain may have the effect of settling the weather, still it makes it very disagreeable about town. The search from the excavations for water and sewer connections makes the streets muddier than they otherwise would be.

—Jas. D. Mitchell, of Waterloo, Ont., is one of a party of three delegates who are visiting the Edmonton district at the present time. They have been along the Prince Albert, and Calgary and Edmonton branches and are greatly pleased with the agricultural possibilities of the country. Mr. Mitchell says he has never before seen such fine vegetables as are in evidence in almost any garden in Edmonton.

—The amount of draying that is being done about town is surprising. From morning till night a constant stream of drays are passing along main streets. The station is a scene of great activity. Car after car of agricultural machinery and numerous cars of lumber are constantly arriving at the station. As many as eight loads of lumber may often be counted ascending the flume grade at one time. This all goes to show the unusual amount of building that is being done in town and country.

PERSONAL.

L. J. A. Lambert, M.L.A., St. Albert, was in Edmonton yesterday.

Miss Phillips arrived from England on an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. Wade.

T. St. Pierre, of Montreal, is in Edmonton today with the intention of publishing a French newspaper here.

H. W. B. Douglas is extending his visit to Winnipeg and will also visit several American cities before returning to Edmonton.

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA.

By the establishment of a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Edmonton a tribute was paid to the prospective future of our city, as it has been customary for this bank to establish branches only at centers of population. The Edmonton branch, the first established in the Northwest, is situated in the heart of the city, near the Pacific ocean, is under the management of E. T. Huxford, with F. W. McLeod as assistant manager. The general manager and a future member of the directors of the bank will likely visit Edmonton and district this fall. The last annual report shows the capital of the bank to be $2,000,000, and the reserve fund one hundred and fifty per cent of the capital, or $3,000,000. H. C. McLeod is General Manager, John Y. Pajaud, President; Charles Archibald, Vice-President; Dr. Charles R. L. Borden, C. S. Campbell, R. L. Borden, C. S. Campbell, J. W. Allison and H. McLeod.

GREAT WEST IMPLEMENT COMPANY.

The Great West Implement Company have recently enlarged their premises by purchasing the land to the rear of their former situation. They now have a frontage of 60 feet on Queens avenue extending along Rice street back to Fraser avenue. Additions and improvements have also been made to their warehouse, in which a heavy stock of farm implements, including a full line of reapers, are kept. The firm, although handling all kinds of agricultural goods, make a specialty of John Deere cultivating machinery and Deering Harvester goods. They also handle Port Huron engines, saw mill machinery, etc. The company have branch offices in Strathcona, Fort Saskatchewan, Leduc and Morinville. The capital stock of the company is $100,000. The officers of the company are: President, E. D. Grierson; Vice-President, H. Goodridge; Managing Director, J. A. Powell; Secretary-Treasurer, W. J. O. Boucher; Directors, J. J. Mellon Strathcona; N. Hattinger, Morinville; H. A. W. Twyford, Edmonton; and A. L. Tucker, Strathcona.

TERRITORIAL TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The sixth annual meeting of the Territorial Teachers' Association was held in Regina last week. Delegates were present from all the principal points in the Territories and included the following: D. S. McKenzie, Strathcona; B. E. Wallace, B.A., Prince Albert; J. C. Nivins, B.A., Prince Albert; J. W. Brown, B.A., Medicine Hat; J. McChie, M.A., Lethbridge; G. E. Ellis, B.A., Edmonton; W. J. Elder, B.A., Regina; G. H. Lee, B.A., Mooseomin; J. F. Hutchinson, Oxbow; J. W. Sifton, B.A., Moose Jaw; J. F. Bryan, B.A., Strathcona; J. A. Munro, Moose Jaw; J. T. Dunning, B.A., Mooseomin; J. O'Brien, Kaposort; E. B. Hutchinson, B.A., P.S.L., and A. M. Fenwick, M.A., Vice-principal of the normal school. A deputation of teachers waited on premier F. W. G. Haultain to request the educational department of the government to take over the operation of a Teachers' Bureau. This step was taken in view of the great scarcity of teachers resulting from the excellent work of the government in establishing schools in new districts, and thus keeping up with the advance of settlement. Even now a great deal of the work of providing teachers for rural schools has to be done by the educational department and it was thought that if all this work were centralized the result would be much more satisfactory.

Another matter of importance that was discussed was the slim attendance in town and village schools immediately after midsummer holidays, in the month of August. To get around this difficulty it was decided to increase the summer holidays by a couple of weeks and a resolution to this effect was presented to Hon. F. W. G. Haultain.

The art committee of the Teachers' Association will confine their attention more closely this year to the external decoration of the school and improvements in school grounds and their ornamentation.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:— Patron and honorary president, F. W. G. Haultain, B.A.; president, C. H. Lee, B.A.; first vice-president, J. McChie, M.A.; second vice-president, B. E. Wallace, B.A.; secretary-treasurer, J. W. Sifton, B.A. Resolution committee—C. Nivins, B.A.; J. T. Dunning, B.A.; W. Res, B.A.; R. Sinnet, B.A.; J. A. Munro and W. J. Elder, B.A. Employment committee—D. S. McKenzie, C. Nivins, B.A., and C. H. Lee, B.A. Examination committee—J. W. Brown, B.A.; C. H. Lee, B.A.; J. Robinson, J. W. Sifton, B.A.; B. E. Wallace, B.A., and W. J. Elder, B.A. Art committee—G. E. Ellis, B.A.; A. Torrie, B.A.; T. Holmes, J. O'Brien, A. J. Maher and W. Harvey.

Mrs. Cannon, Lacombe, arrived in Edmonton last night and is visiting Mrs. Geo. A. Reid.

FRIDAY, JULY 24TH, 1903.

FROM OTTAWA

Resignation of Hon. Mr. Blair.
July 17th, 1903.

Bulletin Correspondence.

The resignation of Hon. Mr. Blair from the Laurier government ranks as a political event of the first class, and the proceedings in the House yesterday, when mutual, formal and final explanations were made, lacked nothing of the highest dramatic effect. The seats were full and the galleries crowded. So well had the secret of cabinet differences been kept that notwithstanding current rumor, there was breathless expectation of the words that would place the two parties to the inference correctly before the public. There was no breach of parliamentary or personal decorum. Everything was done according to the strictest precedent: but the final result was a definite declaration of differences of opinion upon a railway question of national character between the leader of the government and the ex-member of that government whose special charge was the formulation and conduct of railway policy. It would be folly for a friend of the government, or of the scheme against which Mr. Blair protested by the tender of his resignation, to ignore the position which has been created both in regard to the strength of the government and the persistence of its railway policy by this resignation. Mr. Blair has had a long parliamentary and administrative experience. He commands in a remarkable degree the confidence of the province from which he comes. His administration of his department during seven years has been satisfactory to his colleagues and the country, and now that he has taken a position of direct antagonism to the most important feature of the railway policy of the government and evidenced his sincerity by resigning his place, not only is the government weakened, but the strongest possible attack that could be made upon its policy has been made.

From a western standpoint this is to be more deeply regretted than from any other. It is not in the interests of the west that the government which has given it sound immigration policy, substantial tariff reductions, relief from railway monopoly, should be weakened from any properly avoidable cause; and above all that it should be weakened by an attack upon the feature of its policy which meant still further railway development and competition for the Northwest, with additional communication to both oceans, without special charge upon the people of the Northwest more than on the rest of the country; the total cost to the country being kept within reasonable bounds. On the other hand the retiring minister has always been the friend of the people in resisting railway aggression and his last act as a member of the government was to put the final touches to his railway commission bill, which marks a new departure in railway administration in Canada, and for the first time places the interests of the people above those of the railways. The Laurier government has been and is a friend of the West. The retiring minister is and has been also a friend of the West; and it is too bad that a project which must certainly greatly benefit the West should have been the cause of the difference which has placed the Laurier government and Hon. Mr. Blair in what appears likely to be determined and possibly destructive opposition.

After routine the premier made his announcement of the resignation of the minister, reading from a carefully prepared statement. The government had decided on the necessity of a new transcontinental railway. The ex-minister had agreed to that policy, but a difference arose as to the construction and operation. The minister objected, first, to the construction of a line between Quebec and Moncton and, second, to the immediate construction of the construction of the section between Quebec and the Pacific coast and to the suggested mode of construction. His resignation had been tendered on the 16th and was finally accepted on the 17th. The premier expressed his regret at the severance of his colleague from the cabinet, but was happy to believe that with all questions of public policy except the Grand Trunk Pacific railway he was in accord with the government.

The ex-minister's statement was given at very considerable length. First expressing his deep feeling at the importance of the step which he had taken and disclaiming certain of the reasons which had been ascribed to him in certain newspapers. He was most explicit on the point that he had no fault to find with his late colleagues, with the Liberal members, or with the House for the treatment accorded him in the carrying of his railway commission bill. He had expressly invited amendments and, therefore, accepted them when they were made. He had not received assistance from his colleagues because he had not asked it. The railway question had been his special study, as it had not been theirs; but had he needed or asked assistance it would have been given. It had been alleged that differences with his colleagues were the cause of his resignation. Mr. Blair had been mentioned by the papers as having plotted against Mr. Blair. He entirely exonerated that gentleman from any such charge, and in evidence that no such thought was in his (Blair's) mind, he reminded the House that when Mr. Blair was attacked while absent in England, Mr. Blair was the first to defend him. The sole and only reason of his resignation was that he was unable to justify his support of the railway proposal which the government had desired to make. He objected to the government constructing another road from Lewis to Moncton because it would parallel and render useless as a through line that part of the Intercolonial and the millions of public money which had been spent on it. While he was as much in favor of the construction of another transcontinental line as any other member of parliament, he was not in favor of undertaking the work or entering into a bargain regarding it without fuller information regarding the unknown country between Quebec and Winnipeg than was now possessed.

His Last Hope Realized

(From the Sentinel, Gbo. Mont.)
In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1899, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed, and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.

VEGREVILLE

Dr. A. H. Goodwin returned from Edmonton last Saturday. He was accompanied by Misses McKee and Osburn, teachers from Edmonton, and Mrs. Cushing. As this is the first time these ladies have seen or visited this country, we expect that as they are trained observers, they will return home at the end of their vacation bearing with them many new items of interest to their friends.

Rev. A. Barnes, the Methodist missionary laboring for the last three years in Saskatoon, passed through Vegreville on July 9th. He was on his way to Lacombe where he was billed to arrive July 11th. Mr. Barnes presented the appearance of a typical experienced Westerner and it is needless to say that he enjoyed his trip. He spent nine days coming to Vegreville. On his way he spent Sunday at the Barr colony and was kindly招待 as he subsequently was in the surveying camps of Messrs. Weeks and Marchild. Mr. Barnes reported having passed through beautiful ranges of territory, thinly wooded, but specially adapted for ranching. One of special interest regarding his trip was the fact that for one fifty continuous stretch of country he saw no passed over water sufficient to his horse's hoofs.

Rev. A. B. Argue, from the Montreal Alliance, arrived here July 11th to preach. Rev. R. S. Longley is superintendent of the Methodist missionary work in this Vermilion Valley. During the past year Mr. Longley has in his missionary itinerant work travelled over five thousand miles, preached one hundred times on Sundays, held catechism classes at several points, and much pastoral visiting, besides getting up his college examination work. He has a short time to continue his duties. While here he has won the respect of the people of this country for his affable, kind and gentle, and showed by his constant denying labors that the Master's work was of deepest interest to him. Mr. Longley leaves this last night for his country with the best wishes that his success here may only be the earnest of that which may follow through all his college career. He has on his wisdom seen fit to take Rev. Mr. Cox to the work on Beaver Lake mission, while Rev. Bradley, who arrived last week, has his mission at Ponoka, has been the rock of opening up the Sick and Birch Lake country.

Mr. Nulley, who brought in a band of horses recently, met with quite an experience a few miles distant from Vegreville. In a horse deal with some Galicians, Mr. Nulley was made partaker of a few "armed" remarks, while some of the "opposites" of Galician wrath were rather "defacing" in their effects. As a result our very worthy Northwest Mounted Policeman, Mr. Nichols, was notified, and very soon the guilty parties were arrested and on Saturday afternoon of last week, they appeared before Mr. Jno. Fleming, our Justice of the Peace, to answer for their "misdeeds done to the body" of Mr. Nulley, for besides having his left arm terribly bruised, a bone was slightly fractured. As a result of the court each of the guilty Galicians was fined five dollars and costs. Our Galician friends must remember that they are in a land governed by British law, which is second to none the wide world over, and the sooner they learn to obey, the better they will prosper and advance.

Recent rains are exceedingly beneficial to the growing grain and vegetables. Crops are as far advanced as at this date last year.

Mail was two and a half hours late again last week. It would be an extraordinary pleasure to see it on time for once.

July 16th.

BEAVER LAKE EAST

A peculiar disease has struck our young bachelors. They are breaking out in top buggies to an alarming extent. What does this mean? Surely Mr. Rodney will have some pleasant work to attend ere long.

The Beaver Lake baseball club played a friendly match with some of the Vegreville boys at that place on July 4th. The latter were out of practice, and as a consequence did not show up very well, the Beaver Lakers winning easily by 46 to 15. The following played for Beaver Lake: Albert McCallum, captain, J. McCallum, sr., J. McCallum, jr., D. McCallum, D. M. McCallum, A. McCallum, D. Stewart, G. Smith and R. Wilson. The club have since been practicing for the return match with Tofteld on the 17th. As the Tofteld boys are, I am told, in great form, a fine game is anticipated.

On the tenth inst. a party consisting of Mrs. Murdoch McLeod, the Misses Dolly McLeod, Ruthie Asher and Jenny Lister, arrived at the lake for a few days' outing, locating their camp on Mr. Joseph McCallum's land. Messrs. Rodney, Woodside and Coop, locked after their comfort with unfailing solicitude. On the 14th a second contingent announced their arrival by some blood-curdling yells from of course, the male members of the party. This contingent consisted of Mrs. W. Biggs, the Misses McLeod, Timney, Inglis, McKay and Kate McLeod; Messrs. Biggs, Ross, Little, Timney, McQuarrie and Young. The heavy rain of the 14th and 15th made things rather disagreeable for the campers, but they bore these discomforts with hilarious fortitude. There were four preachers and three teachers in the party. The majority of the ladies and gentlemen had never seen the lake before, and were surprised and delighted at the beauty of the scenery. We hope other parties will, in the future, come here for their holiday outings.

In the recent horse stealing case, I believe the owner of the horse gives all the credit to the police for capturing the thief and returning the horse to him. This is hardly fair. Mr. Angus McCallum, the chief witness for the prosecution, laid the information and gave such full particulars that the police had little trouble in getting the man while the horse was also handed over by Mr. McCallum. The latter is certainly entitled to the reward that was advertised, likewise a great deal of the credit.

His resignation had been tendered on July 14th, but as the railway commission bill was not yet through parliament he had accompanied it with an offer to remain in office until the bill had been disposed of in the House. This suggestion met with the premier's approval and his letter of resignation was returned. The commission bill was finished on Wednesday and on Friday, the 19th, his letter of resignation was rewritten and offered to the premier, who desired him to retain it for a few days. On Monday, the 20th, he finally sent it to the premier with another letter of explanation, and on Tuesday the acceptance of his resignation was announced in the House. He read the two letters of explanation, the first dated July 10th, which accompanied his first offer of resignation on the 4th. This letter contained reference to a somewhat remarkable suggestion that had been made to him to permit the premier or some other minister to carry the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific scheme through parliament, while he should give it his full but not active support. This he said was an impracticable proposition. His position of Minister of Railways he considered to be different when railway questions were up for consideration from that of other ministers. But the premier had seen fit to open negotiations with the Grand Trunk Pacific people in conjunction with other members of the cabinet before informing him as Minister of Railways. He did not give this as a cause of his resignation, but as relating the charge of unfair treatment of the premier in not letting his attitude be known sooner.

In his first letter of resignation he required as a condition of its withdrawal (1st), that the government should abandon its idea of building or authorizing the building of a line from Lewis to Moncton, and (2nd), that it should not proceed with a railway from Quebec to Winnipeg until it was possessed of fuller information; (3rd), the road should be built by the government, either directly or through a commission, and that construction should be let after public competition. (4th), The railway when built should be operated either (a) by the government, or (b) by a commission or (c) by a trust composed of railways interested, under government supervision. (5th), that public aid should not be given to a new transcontinental railway until further information as to route and settlement was available. His second letter of July 18th, stated that as he was practically alone in the cabinet as the advocate of government ownership he was prepared to accept a company owned transcontinental railway throughout under suitable conditions but he could not support the building by the government of the unprofitable section and by the company of the profitable section of the transcontinental road. He declared that the proposition to allow other companies running rights over the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific from Winnipeg to Quebec was impracticable as those companies would be in active competition with the Grand Trunk Pacific, who would have the sole management of the operation of the road. He was willing to assist the Grand Trunk Pacific from Quebec to Fort Simpson, to the amount of three-quarters of the cost of the road provided, first, that the government should share in the net earnings of the company and second, that traffic from Quebec to a Canadian winter port should be sent over the Intercolonial at proportionate rates. The conclusion of this letter speaking of the government proposition was as follows: "I feel it my duty to add that I shall be compelled on further reflection to express the project in its passage through parliament."

The premier's letter accepting the resignation did not traverse the arguments put forward in Mr. Blair's letter. He gave as a reason for not replying to Mr. Blair's allusion to a suggestion that he should retain his cabinet position while not supporting the bill, that to do so would be to interfere on the public preserving cabinet secrecy. Regarding the proposition made by Mr. Blair he said that they could better be discussed elsewhere. The conclusion of Sir Wilfrid's letter of acceptance was as follows: "Allow me, in conclusion, to express to you my extreme sorrow for an action which I regard as a great mistake toward yourself, toward your friends, toward your colleagues and above all toward your country, which at this juncture requires a bold and fearless policy of transcontinental development."

Mr. Blair concluded his remarks in the following words: "I do not agree that I should have been doing my duty to myself and in not doing my duty to myself, I should not have been doing my duty to the party with which I am allied. It was my plain and simple course to let them know of the earliest possible moment and let the public know also, how strongly I felt as a responsible minister of the crown with respect to this important question. My strong conviction is that this country cannot afford to carry into operation the policy which my right honorable friend the leader of the government has decided upon."

Thus ends the first page of a new chapter in the history of Canada. Hitherto the Laurier government has been sailing with a smooth sea and a favorable wind. Great things have been done and well done; but they have been done under favorable circumstances. Now with a greater prospect than ever before on hand, and a most serious defection from the cabinet on a question of policy regarding that project, it remains to be seen what skill and seamanship will be shown.
